25th Annual Accomack County Farm Tour Day

For the last twenty-five years, Farm Tour Day has been hosted by Duncan Farms and sponsored by Accomack County Farm Bureau in partnership with Virginia Cooperative Extension and area agribusinesses. The objective of Farm Tour Day is to educate children and adults about agriculture in Accomack County and the Commonwealth. Those attending will learn how a modern commercial farm works by rotating through 19 learning stations demonstrating agricultural subjects such as farm equipment, soils, drones, aquaculture, soybeans, trees and forestry, entomology, life cycle of baby chicks and more.

This year, we hosted over 400 children and chaperones. In many cases, this will be the only opportunity a student will have to see and learn about production agriculture. Farm Tour Day is a non-profit event and much of the work is done by volunteers and other agency cooperating partners.

I would like express my heartfelt gratitude to all the volunteers and generous financial supporters who have played a critical role in making this day an outstanding success for the past 25 years. Your unwavering commitment and hard work have been instrumental in continuing the vital mission of educating our children about the essential world of production agriculture.

Through your efforts, you've helped bridge the gap between our community and the agricultural industry, fostering a deeper appreciation for the vital role farming plays in our lives. Thank you for your tireless dedication to this important cause, and for sowing the seeds of knowledge in our future generations. Your contributions are truly invaluable.

Join us in thanking W. T. Holland and Sons, Mountaire Farms, Scott Insurance, Loblolly Farms, Keen Consulting, Hooper, Shore United Bank, Mills Bros Farm, Tyson Foods, Horsey Poultry Farm, Dublin Farms and Atlantic Tractor for their financial support.

THANK YOU to Chorman Aerial, Revell Farms, Tyson Foods, VIMS - Wachapreague, Oyster Seed Holdings, Inc., Accomack County Farm Bureau Board, Eastern Shore Soil & Water Conservation District, USDA-NRCS, Virginia Department of Forestry, Middlesex and Northampton County Virginia Cooperative Extension, Accomack County Emergency Services, Eastern Shore AREC - Virginia Tech, Virginia Soybean Association, Virginia Farm Bureau Ag in the Classroom, the Eastern Shore of Virginia Master Gardeners and Accomack County 4-H Ambassador, Sophia Gallivan for their dedication to educating each group of children at their booths.

Thank you

Most importantly, a huge thank you to Duncan Farms and the Holland Family for allowing their farm to be taken over during harvest season in order to give these students an true "on-farm" experience.

Dr. Gutter, Director of Virginia Cooperative Extension visits the Eastern Shore

In early September we had several visitors to the Eastern Shore from Virginia Cooperative Extension (VCE) to meet with faculty, staff, students, and stakeholders to better understand what our locality needs to succeed. Dr. Mike Gutter, Associate Dean and Director of Virginia Cooperative Extension (VCE), Ms. Janet Spencer, Southeast District Director, and Ms. Nicole Martin, VCE Coordinator joined us for two days in Accomack and Northampton Counties.

Dr. Gutter joined VCE on November 1, 2022 and is making rounds around the Commonwealth to meet stakeholders and ask how we can better engage to provide science-based information for the agricultural industry. Thank you to all the farmers that shared your time and insights. The team also visited the Eastern Shore AREC to tour research plots and learn more about applied research programs that aim to increase efficiency, quality, and overall value of our farming systems.

To learn more about Dr. Gutter's vision for VCE, please visit: <https://ext.vt.edu/about/admin-team/mike-gutter.html>

New Hire: Agricultural Farm Manager

We would like to welcome Mr. Andrew Fletcher into his new role as Agricultural Farm Manager at the Eastern Shore AREC. The farm manager position is pivotal to ensuring that research projects are implemented in a scientific and realistic way to best represent our agricultural farming systems in Virginia. Duties include maintenance of equipment and facilities, land scheduling and upkeep, research plot implementation, and managing day to day farm operations. Andrew has served as interim farm manager since Tommy Custis retired in March 2023 and has worked within our unit since July 2021 as Assistant Farm Manager. Andrew has an Associate of Science degree in Business Administration from Piedmont Community College and a Bachelors of Science in Agricultural and Business Economics from Virginia Tech. Mr. Fletcher has worked in a variety of agricultural settings that includes vineyards, hogs, forages, and other specialty crops. Andrew's favorite interests include mechanic work, welding, learning more about innovative technologies that can be used with the agricultural sector, and killing weeds (especially yellow nutsedge!). Welcome (to your new role) Andrew!

Dean Alan Grant to Retire from Virginia Tech

Dean Alan Grant has announced that he will retire from Virginia Tech in fall 2024. Dean Grant has served as in his current role for the Collage of Agriculture and Life Sciences (CALs) since 2009 and has spent over 44 years serving stakeholders at four different land-grant universities. Locally, we appreciate the efforts and support that Alan has championed over the years to increase funding and to update facilities and equipment to better serve stakeholders across the Commonwealth. Alan will continue in his current role as a search is initiated to find a replacement.

More information on the impact Dean Grant has made to Virginia Tech and CALS can be found at: <https://news.vt.edu/articles/2023/09/cals-deangrant-retirement.html>

WHAT'S THAT BUG?

Hélène Doughty, Research Specialist Sr., invites you to test your entomology knowledge. Take a guess on the pest and email her your answer! hdoughty@vt.edu

September's Answer: a green stink bug nymph and a Southern green stink bug nymph. The green stink bug nymph is recognizable by lateral dark grey stripes on its body while the Southern green stink bug nymph has 2 rows of white spots on the center of its abdomen and 2 rows of white or pink spots on the outer edge of its body. Colorations of these nymphs may vary with variations in green and black. Earlier instars (stages) of Southern stink bug nymphs can appear mostly black with white spots. Adults are not differentiable without examining their stink glands up close

Eastern Shore Shooting Education Club Participates in the 4-H State Shoot

The Eastern Shore Shooting Education Club competed in the 4-H State Shoot the weekend of September 8-10, 2023 at the Holiday Lake 4-H Educational Center in Appomattox, VA. Twelve members of the club participated in Instinctive Archery, Compound Archery, Air Rifle three position, 22 Rifle, Air Rifle Silhouette, Air Pistol Silhouette, Air Pistol PPP (Progressive Position Pistol), BB gun, Target Sprint, and Public Speaking. Olivia Rinaldo took home first place in the senior public speaking contest.

Connor Maynard won third overall in the male's junior target sprint and Abby Cobb won third overall in the female's junior target sprint. Caleb Dail took third overall in Air Pistol Silhouette. Olivia Rinaldo was also selected as a 4-H Ambassador for the state of Virginia and will serve a two-year term.

The club members will participate in Exmore's 2nd Annual Fall Festival on September 30 at 10:00. They will have a bake sale, 50/50 raffle and other fundraising opportunities. The club uses the money raised to send members to competitions and summer camps. Please stop by and say hello.

The club consists of kids from across the Eastern Shore who strive to learn how to effectively and safely use firearms, grow further in their leadership abilities and discover ways to better serve their community.

For further information about the club, please contact Erin Morgan with Northampton 4-H at esill@vt.edu or 757-678-7946, ext. 15.

2nd Annual Northampton County Farm Tour Day

On September 20, 2023 in cooperation with the Northampton County Farm Bureau Board, the Northampton Farm Tour was implemented to provide third grade students an on-farm agricultural experience. This event was held at Shore Breeze Farms in Cheriton, VA for public, and private school students in Northampton County. At the event, there were 10 agriculturally based booths that students rotated through to learn the importance of agriculture and its impact in our community. Approximately 115 students were educated during the Northampton Farm Tour.
